To Take Place This Evening on the University Campus.

Help the Little Fellow Out.

The concert and dance for the benefit of Leo Hickman that was announced for May 28th, but subsequently postponed on account of other entertainments, to June 7th will take place at Armory Hall on that evening. A splendid program has been arranged and the full orchestra will be in attendance. The musical people in town have taken the matter in hand and the cause is a deserving one.

Little Leo Hickman is suffering from an eye trouble that necessitates an operation and considerable expense to save his eyesight. This benefit is his only hope of raising the required funds. Give the little fellow a rousing house and contribute a little towards helping him save his eyes and make him happy. The tickets for gentlemen will be 50 cents; ladies, 25 cents.

The "Midnight Charge" To-Night. All who attend the theater to-night will enjoy a treat in the production of the "Midnight Charge." There are only a few seats left, and those intending to go should reserve their chairs at Charlie Lake's store early to-day. Some of the best local talent in town will participate, and the singing of the Elite Glee Club will alone be worth the price of admission. The great horse-shoeing scene, with Charlie Ferrel as the principal actor, will be a novelty never produced before in Reno. The performance promises to be first class in every detail, and there is sure to be a crowded house.

A Good Proposition. In view of the fact that the Fire Trustees are looking for a site for a new engine house several places have been suggested. C. S. Martin has offered the lot next to Mr. Wells; also an interest in the brick wall. The lot is 55 feet wide and would afford ample room for the engine house, also a police court-room and cooler in the rear of the building. The price asked for the lot and wall is quite reasonable, and the location is central and convenient. So far this seems to be the best offer yet made for the purpose.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AMNESTY TO STRIKERS.

Manager Fillmore Restores Black-Listed Men to Good Standing.

Two years ago the men employed at the Pullman car works near Chicago struck work because of a disagreement with the Pullman Company. The strikers were members of the A. R. U., and President Debs of that organization, called out the members of the order throughout the country. Railroad men on nearly every line refused to handle Pullman cars, as they belonged to the company against which the members of the A. R. U. had a grievance. The railroad companies refused to move mail trains without Pullmans. This resulted in a blockade. On many roads there were no trains for nearly three weeks.

The employees, who were not members of the A. R. U., were willing to move trains with or without Pullmans, but the A. R. U. men were determined that trains with Pullmans should not run. The Federal Government, at request of the railroad managers, who claimed that the strikers were obstructing the mails and interstate commerce, ordered troops to assist in opening the roads. That order practically ended the strike and the members of the A. R. U. who were actively engaged in the strike were blacklisted. This compelled men who were skilled in railroad work to seek employment in other pursuits to which they were not accustomed, and as the strike on the western roads was purely sympathetic, the men having no complaint against the companies, many of them, when too late, regretted their action. They ascertained that in many instances those who originated the strike at Chicago came west and took the places of the discharged strikers in the machine and car shops and as train and section men.

Now Manager Fillmore, of the Southern Pacific Company has annulled the strikers. He has issued a circular to all division superintendents to send the names of those who committed no overt act to him and they will be taken from the discharge list and placed in good standing so that superintendents will be at liberty to employ them when additional men are required in any branch of the service.

This order will doubtless have a good effect as many of those who participated in the strike admitted that they had no fault to find with the railroad company, but were governed solely by the orders emanating from the chief men of the A. R. U. Some who had families depending upon them for support, deeply regretted the strike and declared they would never engage in another, and doubtless if they are reinstated in their former places will render faithful service to their employers.

Coats and Neely appeared before Justice Linn yesterday on a charge of discharging fire arms contrary to a city ordinance. The Judge heard the evidence and took the matter under advisement. Coats was allowed to go under his bond and Neely was remanded to jail to await the Judge's decision.

Viava.

Viava is more of a food than a medicine. I should be glad to have those who do not understand its use, call and get a Health Book free and read the home testimonials. Viava sales in 1895 exceeded those in 1894 by half a million dollars. Mrs. B. E. HUNTER, Fourth Street.

District Court.

The case of M. Shields vs. the Orr Extension Ditch Co., occupied the whole of yesterday in the District Court. The case was submitted to the jury about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and a verdict was rendered in favor of plaintiff for $50 damages.

BREVITIES.

S. F. Morrill of Oakland was an arrival by the N-C-O last night.

Emma J. Lowell arrived from the south last evening and took the train for California.

Musicians have been engaged to furnish the music at the dedication of the University Gymnasium. Professor Hoskins has the matter in charge.

The name of Nellie Lynch was omitted by mistake from the honor roll of Miss Henry's class when published Tuesday, hence this correction.

C. S. Martin has purchased the Nevada Poultry Ranch of Mrs. Don Barker; consideration private. The ranch is situated south of town on the Virginia road.

Deputy Sheriff Goodman took G. W. Barker, who is indicted for cutting his wife's throat, out of the county jail at Portland, Oregon, and attempted to vote him at a polling place three blocks from the prison. The murderer was identified and his vote rejected. This shows the purity of the gold men.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamonddale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Regular size, 50 cents, and $1.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

The San Francisco papers claim the election in Oregon as a Republican victory. Well, such victories as that would consign the G. O. Nerves are weak, many people say, and yet they do not seem to know that they are literally starving their nerves. Weak, pale, thin blood cannot give proper sustenance—that is why you are nervous, tired, exhausted. The cure for this condition is to purify, vitalize and enrich your blood. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla fairly and faithfully, and the rich, red blood, which it makes, will soon feed the nerves the elements of true strength they require; they will cease their agitation and will resume their proper place—being under the control instead of controlling the brain and body. Read Miss Bartley's letter:

How to Punish a Jilt.
"Do you remember," said Mr. Cawker to his wife, "that when the lovely Miss Bescon jilted young Mr. Spudds five years ago to marry Mr. Dillingham the rejected one swore a mighty vow to be revengeful on his successful rival?"
"Yes," replied Mrs. Cawker, "I remember it well; but such threats never amount to anything."
"In this case they did. Spudds has filled fat the ancient grudge he bears Dillingham."
"He hasn't killed him, has he?"
"Oh, no. His torture is more lingering than that, my dear."
"What has he done?"
"Dillingham told me of it himself, and I must say that the scheme does Spudds credit in his ingenious cruelty."
"But tell me what it is."
"Well, after the wedding Spudds went and allied himself with a fashionable dry-goods house in the city, and ever since then he has occupied his time in How Edison Learned to Tell Stories.

"It seemed like a waste of time," said a gentleman who passed an evening with Mr. Edison, in Norwalk, O., recently, "to hear Mr. Edison rolling off story after story, and demanding of all his acquaintances to tell him more, when we knew how much information we might have received from him. I finally asked him how he got to be such a story teller. 'Well,' he replied, 'when I was quite a young man I was a telegraph operator during the war. I was stationed at St. Louis, which was a sort of distributing point for a large district, and when we would get our batch of stuff off, I used to get pretty tired. Then we would begin to call up the operator at the other end of the line and gossip with him. I always liked stories, and if Chicago had a good one, he would wire it to me. Then I would send that off to Louisville and New York and Cincinnati, and hear them laugh over it by wiring back. 'Ha, ha,' over the wire.
In this way we would get all the best stories there were going, and we would always write them out for the day men.
It got to be a sort of passion after while, and has stuck to me ever since."

Japanese Explorers.
Japan, too, has been exploring. The professor of anatomy in the university of Tokyo, Dr. Nomaka, accompanied by his wife, last October ascended Mount Fujiyama, 13,000 feet high, to make meteorological observations in the course of the winter. A short time ago word was received that the professor was dying, and a relief expedition was fitted out. With great difficulty the members of the expedition reached the snow covered hut. Professor Nomaka was found to be exceedingly weak and unable to move, but his wife had suffered no evil results from the exposure. Nomaka was taken back to Tokyo, but he declares he will return next winter, and his wife says she will accompany him again.

Solid Coolery.
"I made these ice-vents myself, Billgeet," said Mrs. McGwat, with honest pride.
"They look very nice, Lobelia," replied Mr. McGwat, picking one of them up and making an effort to split it.
"And they are still hot. How long ago did you—ah—cast them?"—Chicago

A Patent Flycatcher.
A machine for catching flies off the backs of cattle, and so affording relief and comfort, has been invented by a farmer in Madison county, Ky.
The flycatcher is a kind of cover-top or passageway through which the animal must walk to secure relief. A few feet from the entrance there is a cupola or dome in the roof of the passageway, made of glass and arranged as a flytrap. Beyond this the passagway is darkened. The animal walks through the machine, and just as it passes under the dome and enters the darkened part a set of brushes sweeps off the fly which naturally rises into the light dome, and the steer passes out at its other side free of flies. The flies are retained in the dome trap. The inventor has experimented with his machine and finds that the animal soon knows enough to walk through it when the flies begin to bite. The device has been patented.

"Don't you worry about Julius. He's spending his money in buying out flowers for the rich Miss Poodello. It'll pay him a bigger interest some day than ever Silas will get."

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cure" or Tonsils for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and sometimes an offensive discharge. There should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
